Ernest Edem Amoaku

Mobile Apps Engineer

About

A passionate and experienced client-centric tech enthusiast with extensive knowledge in creating customer satisfaction.

Over 7 years experience in software development with a practical approach that produces results under pressure. This has refined my communication, teamwork, and task-management skills, as I have been required to work with various teams to achieve diverse objectives.

Consumer Facing

To me, the biggest joy in software development is putting something I made in a user's hands and watch them use it. I have a passion for great UI/UX and creating the best user experience possible

Communicating Ideas

I have a special talent for breaking down complex topics and presenting them in an easy to understand manner. I get immense fulfilment from mentoring and teaching others.
